

Summary of Congressional Comments Regarding
Southeast Asia - 23 July 1964

Senator Wayne Morse inserted the current articles from the WASHINGTON POST relating to combat units dropped into North Vietnam. Senator Morse commented that the United States is now at war in both North and South Vietnam by way of subterfuge. He characterized the United States as "an out-and-out aggressor" and repeated his charges that we were violating the United Nations Charter and other treaty obligations. He stated that General Khanh was a military dictator and that he and his cohorts are nothing but stooges of the United States.
